To polish and publish a modern retelling of Romeo and Juliet

One bright sunny day when the birds and even the people were tweeting suddenly the Montagues and Capulets destroyed the peace with thier destructive arguments about app will have the best ratings and comments. However this time the Capulets posted terrible reviews about the Montagues game and rated it zero stars. Other pranks that were pulled were hacking on to each others accounts and changing the prices really high so no one would buy the app and they would change the discription and put rude things in it. The head of all apps, Escalus, threatened on twitter that he would remove both apps from every phone and the app store if this continued.

After a quiet day the Capulets held the two month anniversary that took place in an enormous room that looked like it was made out of diamonds, the stage filled hall was lavished with fabulouse jekching chandeliers that shone like the stars in the pitch black sky. Silly intruding, via an open window, the three terrible trespassers, Romeo, Benvolio and Mercutio were falling to the ground with laughter by the sound of the announcement that Tybalt was the person who introduced the app to the world. Later that evening the ceremony turned into a ball and everyone stared at thier partners and danced apart from one lonely lady at the other side of the room named Juliet, she was kicking her heels at the diamond like ground waiting for her true love. Heart beating excitedly, Romeo glanced at her and nervosly strolled over and they introduced them self and began to dance, they couldn't keep thier hands ~~one~~ eyes of each other, they started to fall in love and made a disition to instantly get married.

Not long after, the unknown wedding day came Friar Lawrence married the merry couple, Romeo and Juliet. After that Romeo was strolling through the streets of Verona when in an instant, Tybalt emerged out of nowhere and thundered, "So you thought my victory was hilarious, little Montague?!"

"I don't want anyone hurt Tybalt.", calmly replied Romeo. Reluctant, Romeo marched away however, Mercutio was extremely kind, he screamed, "I will fight you, you Capulet coward!"

"I accept your challenge you monstrosity of a man!" answered Tybalt.

The two boys fought and devastatingly Mercutio's life was finished, Tybalt had stabbed him! Romeo dashed to and killed him with rage. The head of all apps heard about this and decided to remove Romeo from Verona. Meanwhile, Juliet ran towards Friar Lawrence after hearing this life threatening news and begged him for something to help her not marry Paris. Desperate to help her the friar began thinking of a motive. Within a blink Friar Lawrence had a light bulb above his head, he had a solution. He started crushing sleeping pills and turned it into minced beef and made a burger. "If you consume this then you will look as if you are dead for forty two hours." Explained the Friar. "Please don't forget to tweet my husband, Romeo, this plan!" Pleaded Juliet.

He answered, "Of course my lady Juliet."

Juliet consumed the meat and drifted away.

After that, Lord and Lady Capulet observed that Juliet did not awake for her morning meal. Curious to see they climbed the delicate diamond, superb spiral staircase with curiosity and to their complete devastation their delightful daughter was dead! They wailed with woe and sorrow at this disasterous loss. Sadly they transported the body to her last destination, the family tomb. Rustling in the bushes, Romeo's personal assistant, Balthazar, caught sight of Juliet on the coffin and in the blink of an eye, rushed to tell Romeo. Upon hearing this Romeo fell to the ground and declared, "If my wife goes to heaven, then so do I!"

Immediately, Romeo hopped into his car and drove off. Meanwhile, Friar Lawrence lay down feeling guilty about something but he didn't know what.

Saved, Romeo finally reached the tomb and at the sight of Juliet his eyes were hollows of madness. Weeping he kissed his lover's cheek for the final time and drank the poison and collapsed in agony. Seconds later Juliet had awoken from her deep sleep and she screamed with rage at the sight of him she kissed his, to check if it had more poison left for her but it didn't work. She grasped his dagger and inserted it into her body. Friar Lawrence approached the tomb and spotted the bodies. The head of all apps heard the families loss and was unsympathetic he blamed both families, declaring, "For never was a story of more woe than Juliet and her Romeo."
